1	Nervous. I want to know more about the cost of different colleges. I need to start learning about it ASAP, because I want to feel confident when I go to college. I want to be prepared.	10/30/2014 1:43 PM

3	I am nervous about the cost of college tuition. One reason is I don't know how i am going to get anything paid for. Another reason is I don't know if I am ready to go to college.	10/28/2014 1:28 PM
4	Im not happy	10/28/2014 1:27 PM
5	To much, i feel that the cost for college now i way to much that is why kids are so much in debt once they come out of college this is not fair to them of the parents i think that colleges should lower their prices or give more scholarships so more staudents can afford to go.	10/28/2014 1:23 PM
6	College is really expensive and I think that the U.S. should give higher taxes so we can get free education like in some countries in Europe. College is just way too expensive for some people and people have to pay off loans later in life and go into debt but we got higher taxes for free education it wouldn't be a big problem and some people that get scholarships don't really have to worry about that kind of stuff but people who really want to go to college that can't afford it do	10/28/2014 1:21 PM

8	Scared. I feel like I won't be able to get into a college that I want to go to because of the price. And if you look at some countries, they have it for free. We struggle with it and i'm scared I won't get the education that I need.	10/28/2014 1:20 PM
9	Ridiculous! Our government is so good, we should have free education. I would rather have higher taxes and have free education, than have low taxes with ridiculously high priced education.	10/28/2014 1:20 PM
10	tremendous. The cost of post high school education is just to high. my parents and siblings never even finished 9th grade let alone go to collage and that has pushed me to do my best and do better than my family did but with collage cost i find that its going to be kinds hard. my dream was to always go to collage get a job and raise a family ami going to be able to do that now? am i even going to be able to afford collage without going into huge debt? these question i often ask myself at least a thousand time a week i am a junior now and its coming up fast.... and im honestly stuck.	10/28/2014 1:19 PM
11	I think that higher education cost is to expensive as it stands right now.You basically need some sort of higher education or training to be successful in this world today and if we need that education why is it so expensive to where we have to take out $30,000 loans just for a degree.Then we have to spend the next few years just slowly paying off the huge debt we built up over the years just to get a higher education.	10/28/2014 1:18 PM
12	Alright. I feel I have a pretty good understanding of how much the total cost of college for me might cost.	10/28/2014 1:15 PM
13	Crazy. I have known for awhile that the cost of college tuition is steadily rising year after year, and with it the tuition. I personally think that the Government should find ways to lower the cost so that more people would feel comfortable about deciding to go to college.	10/28/2014 1:15 PM
14	The cost of education is rising to a point where it will be affordable to most middle class citizens. In this people will rise and demand it to be lower, those people have to be our generation otherwise nothing will happen.	10/28/2014 1:13 PM

15	Stressed The cost for me to get a doctorate in psychology is going to be extremely expensive and I will probably be paying off student loans for most of my life.	10/28/2014 11:59 AM
16	Good- if feel good about going to college i am ready and ive talked it through with my parents. even though i'm a junior that doesn't mean that i cant start planning ahead \, and preparing for the future.	10/28/2014 11:59 AM
17	satisfied We get free college tuition in Germany.	10/28/2014 11:58 AM
18	nothing	10/28/2014 11:58 AM
19	I feel this is going to take several scholarships, but i do know that i will have to pay for some of it with loans and grants. The word is Unbelievable. I think we should not have to pay for college like other countries. If they get to do it then we should.	10/28/2014 11:56 AM
20	over blown	10/28/2014 11:55 AM
21	RIDICULOUS We claim to be a first world country yet we are the only country that does not offer free tuition. This is crazy and beyond upsetting. I WANT TO PROTEST THIS! Just like in the last chapter it is complete loss of human capital. Someone wants to be a doctor but is scared off by the never ending debt that would follow so they go be a banker or something stupid and they probably have a cure for Ebola inside their head. It is so so frustrating that college tuition is so much. Especailly when you want to go to an Ivy League school for the more advancement options but you simply cannot afford it so you lack the ability to get everything you need and deserve to succeed.	10/28/2014 11:54 AM
22	Colleges are like iPhones, much more expensive than what they should be and what they do.	10/28/2014 11:53 AM
23	One word that describes me on my feeling about higher cost of higher education is frustrated. I don't see how colleges expect us to pay these high cost when most of us live on or barely above the poverty line. How are we expose to get a better education to get a better job and escape poverty when all of our money has to go to college.Many people are afraid to go to college because they don't want to live in debt when they do get out of college. The system is broken in my opinion.	10/28/2014 11:53 AM
24	When it comes to college and the cost of it I have absolutely no clue. No one in my family has every gone to college so it wasn't talked about much around me. I know ive always been expected to go but when it comes to how to pay for it and what to do, its like reading another language. I am clueless on the subject but hope to soon further educate myself on the matter.	10/28/2014 11:53 AM
25	I'm more neutral. I don't have very much of an opinion since I'm not sure if I am even going to college or not.	10/28/2014 11:52 AM
26	Ridiculous. From what I know about college costs, they are way too overpriced. How does the world plan on succeeding if no one can afford it? Even if students now don't go out and protest now eventually no one will be able to go anyways because of the cost and then the colleges won't make any money so hopefully they'll lower their prices then but people still think it's fine to take a ridiculous loan out just to go to school and MAYBE get their dream job. With more people that take up more space that also means that there are less available job slots open. So what happens when you owe a massive debt and no way to pay it off because you don't have a job?	10/28/2014 11:51 AM
27	Scared. I'm not looking forward to the price of college at all. I already explained this.	10/28/2014 11:51 AM
28	dis-pleased I plan on joining the military to get around such college tuition. I know not all people believe it is the way to go but someone has to do it. College is a great thing. If that is something you want to do. Also if its the best choice for that person and how they learn.	10/28/2014 11:50 AM
29	Uncertain	10/28/2014 11:49 AM
30	good. i know that most colleges cost a lot of money.	10/28/2014 11:47 AM
31	I think the cost to go to collage is crazy concertinaing the fact that everyone wants people to go.	10/28/2014 11:46 AM
32	Calm. I don't let the big prices send me astray. neither do i claim i can pay any sort of tuition. I look at it like, dude, im only 15. I'm not procrastinating or worried. i's calm, letting life take me where it takes me	10/28/2014 11:46 AM
33	I think a higher education costs are terrible.	10/28/2014 11:46 AM
34	I feel that the cost of higher education, would be alright if you can make double what you payed for your education. That way you'll still be able to live decently while paying back your loan.	10/28/2014 11:45 AM
35	i am scared that i wont be able to do what i want to do in my career because i wouldnt be able to pay for it	10/28/2014 11:43 AM
