Trevi fountain

On the 21st we will visit the Trevi Fountain in Rome. We will take the bus from our hostel for 15min and arrive in Rome city. The Trevi fountain is a fountain in the Trevi city in Rome. The fountain is 26.3 meters high and 49.15 meters wide. It's one of the most famous fountain in the world. This Fountain was also in several different movies and also a main part in different movies. One of my favorite movies, walking down in Rome and the actor put a Euro in the fountain and she made some wishes and they all came true. I watched this movie a couple years ago and I can't remember the movie title but it was a really good movie. We will take some 1 and 2 cents and we will throw them in the fountain and our wishes will come true.

Waterpark Hydromania

After we have our cents in the Trevi Fountain we will go to the Hydromania Waterpark. The Waterpark is not that far from the Trevi fountain, so we will take the bus for 10 min and we will arrive at the Waterpark. This Waterpark has a huge variety of water slides. We will have slides for younger children but also a lot of different slides for older ones. We are pretty excited to be some "little children" for a day. It's 90 000 square meters green and it's the best waterpark in the country. TripAdvisor had some really good reviews. We think we will stay for a couple hours and than we will go to our next step.

Costs: 19 Euros

Gregory's

Food, Drinks and live music! At Gregory's we will enjoy the night in Rome. I found this on TripAdvisor and the people left really good comments about this place. The owners are playing the music and also other bands can play during the day to show their talents. We are really interested to listen to Italian music and compare Italian music to American and German music. We also eat some really good homemade Italian food.

1. Borghese Galleria

The Borghese Galleria (Gallery) looks beautiful in the pictures. I can't imagine how amazing they are in person. "The museum is Italy itself" said a review on TripAdvisor. The tickets are only 11 euros for me and 6.50 euros for Sarah. That's pretty cheap for such a big, interesting museum. Almost every review tells us to pre book tickets, and get there at least 30 minutes early to get the tickets. What's really cool about the Borghese is that it's inside and outside. There's everything from statues to paintings, to fountains. There is giant art, and there is tiny art. I think the variety will keep us interested and happy for the day. The Borghese is always full of people no matter what day you go according to TripAdvisor, but since it is so big and there is so much to see other people shouldn't be a bother. Maybe we can even meet some people who know a little bit more than us and learn something!

July 23 Naples

Our first day in Naples!

We arrive in Naples and the first thing we will do is to visit the Naples Botanical Garden. 1000 different plants and flowers and little cafes in the garden. You can sit down and enjoy the day between wonderful flowers.

We looked up some stuff and we found out that you also can marry in the Botanical Garden. I hope we will see that and we can take some picture that would be really cool.

This garden is small compared to other ones but it's still a very good places to stay for a couple hours and enjoy the view of our nature.

Bourbon Tunnel

The Bourbon Tunnel

During the Second World War, the tunnel was used as a shelter during bombardments.

Now you can go into the tunnel and take some tours, we will share the Catacombs of Naples with other people and experience how people walk down there during the 2nd world war.

That looks like a great places to see history. We will take a lot of pictures. After the tour we can all eat together in the Catacombs.

1.Mt. Vesuvius

<http://www.viator.com/tours/Naples/Private-Tour-Pompeii-Half-Day-Trip-from-Naples/d508-2958PP>

Mt. Vesuvius is a huge volcano and looks like an interesting trip. We're in shock that we were able to find a round trip out of where we are staying to go see the ruins of pompeii, and the volcano, for only $35! Since this trip happens twice a day we can choose morning or afternoon. I think this time we're going to go with a morning tour. Depending on what time we leave we might even be able to see the sunrise come up over Mt. Vesuvius! Walking the streets of the ruins would just be amazing. The tour guide will explain what the places used to be before the eruption, and we can even stick our head in the wall and become part of the ruins ourselves! After we return to Naples we will probably grab some good italian food, and then head back to pompeii to explore the ruins on our own later that afternoon. Pompeii seems like it would be interesting because nobody actually "lives" there. Many people work, and visit pompeii but it's not suitable to live because it's so highly volcanic. We're hoping that the ruins empty out later at night so we can get a real feel of the despair 2,000 years ago.

1. Waterside shops

http://www.tripadvisor.com/Attraction\_Review-g34467-d144915-Reviews-Waterside\_Shops-Naples\_Florida.html#photos

The waterside shops in Naples have 309 excellent reviews on tripadvisor, so we expect it to be pretty amazing! There are tons of different fountains all over the place. What's really interesting is that this mall goes inside and outside. There is a ton of water to see and over 60 stores to explore! Not only do we plan on getting a fashion sense of Italy, but we can see all kinds of pretty lights on the water at night! Something we're learning from planning this trip is that everything has a different feel at night. The architectural make of this huge arena of shops is baffling. There's so many little bridges, steps around water, and lights to illuminate our walk. We really like the "naturey" feel it seems to give off in the pictures. It looks like some parts of the shops are supposed to look modern and city like while others are supposed to look urban and full of nature.
